As the September quarter comes to an end, it gives me immense pleasure to share the learning, growth, achievements, and experiences that have shaped this quarter. Every edition of Prabandhan reflects the collective efforts of our students, faculty, and institution, bringing all the memorable moments together on one platform.

A Message from TED Head, Prabandhan

Technology can create words, but only people can give them meaning.

When I first became a part of Prabandhan, I often wondered why we needed so much human effort when technology could create well-written content in seconds. But being a Content Writer and now taking on the responsibility of TED Head has helped me understand that a write-up is not just about putting the right words together; it carries the thoughts, experiences, and emotions of the people who have lived them.

Over time, I realised that Prabandhan is much more than a newsletter. It brings together our experiences at LNCT - the events we participate in, the achievements we celebrate, the guidance we receive from our faculty and coordinators, and the efforts of everyone working behind the scenes to bring these moments to life.

Being a part of this team has shown me how every contribution, big or small, adds to something we create together. Prabandhan gives us a space to share our experiences, appreciate one another's efforts, and preserve the memories that shape our time at LNCT.

True to its spirit - “For the Students, By the Students, and With the Students” - I hope these pages bring back a familiar moment, a cherished memory, or a little reminder of your own journey.

Warm regards,
Diksha Rajput
